Objective:

Unmanned and autonomous systems represent a rapidly expanding strategic domain that includes aerial, ground, and maritime platforms operating remotely or autonomously. The purpose of these days is to bring together researchers, engineers, and industry professionals to share recent scientific and technological advances, strengthen collaboration, and promote innovative applications tailored to national and regional needs .

Topics

- Design and modeling of unmanned and autonomous systems.
- Artificial intelligence and UAS applications.
- Guidance, navigation, and control.
- Perception, environmental understanding, and cognitive autonomy
- Multi-agent cooperation and coordination in collective operations.
- Advanced techniques for detection, localization, and tracking of unmanned and autonomous systems.
